

THAT suggestion to look after the settler after he arrives is sound sense.

TRIBUNE-CITIZEN.
VOL. 26, NO. 56.

PENFIELD ASKS FOR DATA UPON SINKING OF THE STEAMER PERSIA

American Ambassador at Vienna Requests Information but as Yet Has Received No Reply From Government.

SITUATION AT HALT FOR LACK OF FACTS

Memorandum Issued by State Department in September, 1914, Sets Forth Position of Government as to Guns.

(By Evening Herald Leased Wire)

Washington, Jan. 6.—Ambassador Penfield cabled today that he had presented informally to the Vienna foreign office the American government's request for an information on the destruction of the British liner Persia, and at the time of filing his dispatch had received no reply.

American Consul Garrett at Alexandria reported that the officials he has gathered from the Persia survivors gave no more hints that a submarine torpedoed the liner, or regarding its nationality, than were contained in his first dispatches.

So far the only actual statement tending to prove that the ship was torpedoed came from one of the officers of the ship who said he saw what he thought was the wake of a torpedo. No submarine was seen at any time.

The absence of further definite evidence is holding the situation as far as the United States is concerned, at a standstill.

Chairman Stone of the foreign relations committee discussed the situation with the president today and raised other questions expected to come up at a meeting of the committee tomorrow, particularly Senator Paul's resolution for information on the recognition of the Carranza government and information on the Mexican question.

The president told Senator Stone on additional information of importance had been received on the Persia incident and expressed the hope that until the government had formulated its policy there would be little discussion as possible in the senate.

A memorandum defining the general status of armed merchant vessels visiting American ports was issued by the state department in September, 1914, when complaint was made to the British government that German merchant vessels, with offensive armament, were escaping from ports of this country and South America to prey upon British commerce. The policy of this government was defined in part as follows:

"There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is common agreement among those who have studied the subject intelligently that we should have a force in the continental United States of 300,000 men subject to instant call.

"Our immediate problem therefore seems to be how we shall meet these requirements."

The admiral general cautions the conclusion that he cannot expect under present conditions to recruit more than 50,000 men per year for the army. It would, therefore, seem impracticable in the last degree to consider that the problem can be solved by providing for a standing army of the size necessary for this solution.

Turning to the national guard, Mr. Garrison said:

"At the present time this force consists of approximately 120,000 men and officers, and it would therefore be necessary if it is to be expanded to increase to 100,000 and 200,000 men and officers."

He therefore proposed a large addition to the federal aid extended to the national guard, so that the system may be operated to its maximum capacity and be available for the federal purposes specified in its most effective condition."

Chairman Hay stated it recent orders of the war department would prevent army officers from giving their committee free expression of their individual views.

"They are free as air," the secretary replied. "They are bound only by courtesy and conscience."

The secretary developed no definite opposition to his plans during the early part of his examination by members of the committee. Representative Kahn, Republican, asked if the Monroe Doctrine was not a constant source of danger to the country against which preparation must be made.

"Absolutely," said Secretary Garrison. "We must be prepared to defend it or abandon it."

CHINO COPPER OUTPUT FOR NOVEMBER SHOWS 600,000-POUND GAIN

(By Evening Herald Leased Wire)

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 6.—The November output of the Chino Copper Company, Grant County, New Mexico, was 6,938,000 pounds, as against 6,339,194 pounds in October. It is believed the December production will show a still greater increase.

Moderate Cold Wave
CONTINUES OVER EAST

Washington, Jan. 6.—A moderate cold wave prevailed today and will continue tonight and Friday from the Mississippi river eastward to the Atlantic coast, the cold extending southward toward the gulf states.

The Evening Herald

ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEXICO, THURSDAY, JANUARY 6, 1916.

FALL sprung his sensation today; the president is reported to have survived.

THE EVENING HERALD
VOL. 5, NO. 212

Garrison Makes A Set Argument For Army Plans Of Department

Proposes Creation of Mobile Force of a Million Men in Six Years. With Huge Stores of Munitions.

COST OF MAINTENANCE ABOUT DOUBLE PRESENT

The Integrity of the Nation May Depend Upon This Matter at Any Time," Says Secretary of War.

(By Evening Herald Leased Wire)

Washington, Jan. 6.—Secretary Garrison laid before the house military affairs committee today his formal argument in behalf of the administration's army plan, which is designed to give the country a definite military policy. He proposes the creation of a mobile force of more than a million men in six years, amounting to a huge reserve of ammunition and equipment, and ultimate extension of the coast defenses, the whole project involving an increased expense of $600,000,000 and an annual war department budget thereafter of more than $200,000,000 as compared with an average of $100,000,000 for the last few years.

The integrity of the nation and its very existence," the secretary said, reading from a lengthy statement he had prepared, "may depend upon what is done in the matter at this time. This great opportunity will be lost unless a wise sensible and practical policy is the result of the consideration and action of this congress."

Referring to the far spread military responsibilities of the nation, reaching into the insular possessions, China, Alaska and the Panama canal zone, Mr. Garrison added:

We have determined and announced that the sovereignty of the other republics on this hemisphere shall remain inviolable, and must therefore at all times stand ready to make good our position in this connection.

This amendment was carried by 275,000 against 200,000.

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

The recommendation in the bill was in the form of an amendment to the resolution originally placed before the congress. This amendment reaffirms the decision of the labor party at Bristol in regard to its amendment and action of this congress.

A meeting of the labor party in parliament to be held immediately has been summoned. It is expected that Arthur Henderson, president of the board of education and leader of the party, will be present.

The recommendation in the bill was in the form of an amendment to the resolution originally placed before the congress. This amendment reaffirms the decision of the labor party at Bristol in regard to its amendment and action of this congress.

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of cost and of other considerations."

There is a disposition upon the part of some," he continued, "to assume that we are forcing a crisis. The only way to meet any emergency is by adopting emergency measures. The personnel and material needed for military purposes should be immediately mobilized. Every nerve should be strained and every resource drawn upon and nothing overlooked necessary to provide and defend us, regardless of